

There is a lot of real structure, and it is not all equally solid

14 components above the noise ceiling

Not all components are equally measurable

